SERBIAN SHOPS ARE SACKED

Troops and Police Clash With Mobs—Latter Have Better of Encounters—Hostile Feeling Continues to Grow—Arrangements Made to Send Bodies Home.

SERAJEVO, June 29.—Troops occupied strategic points at Serajevo this afternoon, after a drum and trumpet sounded a warning for clearing the streets. It is understood the activity is due less to the anti-Serbian rioting than the explosion of a bomb, supposedly by Serbians in the center of the city, injuring several persons.

Carrying the emperor's portrait, hundreds of Austrians paraded the city, looting Serbian stores and residences. More than 20 Serbians were badly beaten.

SERAJEVO, June 29.—As a sequel to Sunday's assassinations, pro-Austrian mobs began rioting today. The people charged an extensive Serbian conspiracy existed against the archduke and Austrians generally. Mobs sacked scores of Serbian shops and are reported to have killed several Serbian residents.

In several encounters with troops and police, the rioters had the better of the fighting. The official account was that the archduke's last words were: "Sophie, you must live for our children."

Dr. Dvornik, commander of the army hospital, embalmed the bodies. Arrangements are being made to ship the bodies to Vienna tonight.

They will be taken by special train to Metkovich, where they will be put on board an Austrian battleship and escorted by a squadron of warships to Trieste, thence by rail to the capital, where they will arrive Thursday.

It was announced in the imperial crypt at Capuchin church, Vienna, but beside his wife in a private crypt in the castle of Amstetten, overlooking the Danube river.

LONDON, June 29.—An unexploded bomb found by the police at Serajevo, unquestionably is one of those intended for Archduke Ferdinand, according to a Vienna dispatch. It was made in a Serbian gun factory at Kragujevac, said the message, which added that a large sum of money was found in the room of the assassin, Princip.

LONDON, June 29.—King George designed Prince Arthur of Connaught to represent England at the archduke's funeral. A number of British noblemen is expected to accompany him to Vienna.

FLETCHER SAYS CARRANZA STALLING ON MEDIATION

ADMIRAL FROM VERA CRUZ IS IN WASHINGTON TO SEE PRESIDENT.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Admiral Fletcher arrived at Washington from Vera Cruz last night to see the president. It is said he suspected that Carranza is "stalling" in connection with sending representatives to Niagara Falls.

It is expected in administration circles that the mediators will ask Bryan shortly to make good his guarantee of a constitutionalist representation before them.

NIAGARA FALLS, June 29.—That mediation between the United States and Mexico has succeeded, ending his own and his colleague's work, was the statement of Argentine Minister Naon.

"Our duty is done," he said. "Everything rests now with the Mexican people. I cannot say how much longer we will remain here."

Nothing further has been heard from the constitutionalists.

DISASTROUS FIRE AT REED HOME TO BE INVESTIGATED

Residence Midway Between Gibbon and Bingham Springs is Totally Destroyed by Flames.

RUMORS SAY INCENDIARISM

Mrs. Reed Said to Have Aced Quercy Preceding Blaze—One Person Declares He Saw Woman Apply Match—Insurance Company Will Likely Probe Into Stories.

Fire yesterday afternoon completely destroyed the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Lou Reed midway between Gibbon and Bingham Springs and since the burning ugly rumors have been afloat concerning the origin of the fire. The rumors, some of which are well defined, implicate Mrs. Reed and will probably result in an investigation.

The fire occurred between 2 and 3 o'clock in the afternoon and, there being no way to fight it, burned rapidly and quickly destroyed the house and most of the contents. The place was leased by Claude Estes, formerly of this city, but Mrs. Reed is living there. Mr. Reed is in Seattle.

According to reports coming down from Bingham Springs today, Mrs. Estes had telephoned to Bingham before the fire stating that Mrs. Reed was acting as if demented and that she (Mrs. Estes) feared the woman would burn the house. Another report is that she was "pouring kerosene about the house before the fire but the most damaging story told against her is by a young man who works for Estes, who declares he saw her apply the match. He told this yesterday to a prominent local resident who was enroute to Bingham and who stopped to watch the fire. Also he made the same statement to others.

Insurance to the amount of $1500 was carried on the house and $1000 on the contents with Bentley & Leflingwell of this city. They will investigate the rumors which are afloat to ascertain whether they are founded on fact or mere gossip.

BABY BURNS FEET WHILE STANDING ON TIN ROOF

A victim of the sun's heat yesterday, Jackie, the eighteen-month-old baby of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Oliphant, is suffering from two badly burned feet received when he stepped out of the window of his room to a tin roof. His mother was just preparing him for the bath and was fixing the water when the little fellow stepped on to the roof which, under the sun's rays, had become as hot as a stove. His screams attracted her attention but before she could rescue him, both feet had been terribly blistered. A physician was summoned and the injuries dressed but it will be some time before the little fellow will be able to walk.

THROWN FROM LOAD OF HAY YOUNG MAN BADLY INJURED

Thrown from a load of hay when his four mule team became entangled and unmanageable, James Renner, a young man employed on the John Crow ranch, this morning was run over and injured so seriously that he will probably be under the care of a physician for six or eight weeks at best. His lower jaw was broken and both bones of one of his forearms.

He was driving down a hill at the time of the accident, which occurred about 8 this morning on the Crow ranch. The wagon, running upon the wheel team forced them to crowd the leaders with the result that all four soon became unmanageable. The wagon was cramped and Renner thrown to the ground. One of the rear wheels passed over his neck, shoulder and arm and, besides breaking the bones mentioned, bruised and lacerated him badly. The forearm was broken midway between the elbow and wrist.

He was brought to St. Anthony's hospital where Dr. T. M. Henderson set the fractures. The doctor believes he will recover from his injuries but states that it will be some time before they are entirely healed. His home is in Portland.

AUTO WRECKED BUT OCCUPANTS ESCAPE

MACHINE STRIKES DITCH WHILE TRAVELING AT RAPID RATE OF SPEED.

Striking a ditch in the road just north of the Lee street bridge while going at a rapid speed, the big Winston six of John Mumm Saturday evening was completely wrecked, but not one of the seven occupants were injured, though all were thrown out. The damage done to the car is estimated at $400.

Mumm was taking six farmhands to his ranch after nightfall. Recently a new culvert was placed across the road, and, not being as long as the old one, at each end the ditch was open. In the darkness, Mumm went too far to one side and one wheel struck the ditch with terrific force. The wheel crumpled up, the steering gear and front axle were twisted, the fenders bent and the engine badly damaged. Fire broke out soon after but was extinguished before much damage was done. Mumm sustained some bruised ribs and several of the other occupants were slightly injured. The owner of the car carried no collision insurance. The car has been brought in to the Oregon garage for repairs.

Another auto accident occurred Saturday night when a Maxwell car owner unknown, backed into the mill-race near the temporary bridge being used while the Court street bridge is under course of construction.

OIL INTERESTS BLAMED FOR REBEL DIFFERENCES

PLOT TO CONTROL MEXICAN RAILROADS CAUSED VILLA T OBALE.

NEW YORK, June 29.—That a plot by American oil interests to get control of the railroads in northern Mexico caused the break between Carranza and Villa is asserted here. Carranza, it was learned, proposed the appointment of Alberto Pani, said to be friendly to these interests, as manager of the lines. Villa, it appeared, vetoed the selection and continued General Calzad in position, despite the fact Carranza extorted a resignation from the latter. The New York Herald published what purported to be correspondence between Henry Pierce, an oil magnate, and Sherbourne Hopkins, Carranza's confidential advisor in Washington.
